

BE SAFE IN THE BEAUTIFUL OUTDOORS...

Camp White Eagle—Camp Kupugani's home just two hours west of Chicago, Illinois, has a 60-year tradition of safely nurturing and developing campers. It comprises beautiful woods, trails, a swimming pool, natural limestone rock climbing walls, game fields, and a 5-acre lake for swimming, water games, and almost a mile of canoeing through the property.

With 120 acres of forests, wildlife, and wildflowers galore, it offers fresh air, natural water, the robust smell of pure woods and a twinkling night sky. And you can relax knowing that we are certified by the American Camp Association.

GREAT MENTORS IN A CHANGING WORLD...

Colleges, workplaces, and organizations are more diverse. While diversity presents opportunities for cross-cultural exchange, dialogue, and growth, often people lack the tools to communicate positively. Your child must fine-tune those skills to thrive in an increasingly multicultural society. That means maximizing his self-confidence and communication skills.

CONNECT...

At Camp Kupugani, boys of varied backgrounds live, play, and work together, instilling bonds of friendship and trust. You gain a life-altering experience that helps you develop effective and lifelong interpersonal tools. You enjoy an inspiring experience by living with, learning from, and befriending others with whom you may not usually interact. Through the camp experience, you gain the profound, personal experience of uniting with diverse campers to build an inclusive community. Those communication skills help you gain respect for yourself and others—fostering friendships with new lifelong buddies. From the rich diversity around you, you learn from others and become the best team you can be.

Camp director Kevin Gordon has decades of experience working with children; he has a graduate degree in addition to his psychology degree from Harvard University. Kupugani's fun, vibrant, spirited staff members are selectively chosen from a very large number of applicants from all around the world. These talented folks help your boy enhance his emotional and social intelligence so he can maximize his potential. We're so confident that your boy will enjoy big amounts of fun, big adventures, and big challenges that we even offer a money-back guarantee!

LEAD...

You excel by developing leadership skills that contribute to your personal growth—building yourself up and maximizing confidence. You will be challenged and enjoy unparalleled opportunities to grow.

PLAY. LEAD. CHALLENGE. CONNECT. UNITE.
